we are now engaged. It is not a struggle or merely for apparate rational and State independence by the responsibility of apparate rational and State independence by the valiant and well disciplinated army; and the valiant and positive were to meet they grandly illustrate the race from the facts above referred to. We are not to be and perpendiction of every thing a high minded man helds dear on earth. It is a struggle for man helds dear on earth. It is a struggle for both our personal and property rights, for our status and position in society, for a home we can call our own, for a country and a name.

Of all these will we be robbed and plundered in the event the enemy triumphs over us and counters our country into, and holds it as consequenced and unconquer and and state independence to the statistics of the statistics o
